Abstract: Evolutionary approaches to software development, together with an emphasis on reuse, has brought about the reevaluation of software maintenance tools. Such tools range from source code analysers to semi-intelligent tools which seek to reconstruct systems designs and specification documents from source code. However, it is clear that relying solely upon source code as the basis for reverse engineering has many problems. These problems include poor abstraction, leading to overdetailed... (Update)

The sizable demand for online access to U.S. court cases created a market where database development investments were not at great risk. In fact, attorneys have been sanctioned by courts for failing to search either service. Historically, the profession has been sued repeatedly for malpractice because of a perceived failure to perform adequate legal research on behalf...

TEXT: Headnote:

DATICON Systems, Inc. has announced the release of DATI-SHARE, an Internet database application for document management, and VIRTUAL PARTNER, a document-management system.

DATI-SHARE

DATI-SHARE is available by subscription or license, enabling litigation practices of any size and technological readiness to easily support collaboration among an unlimited number of attorneys in unlimited locations. The first module of DATISHARE is designed specifically to accommodate Internet storage, full-text searching, retrieval, annotation, and custom file foldering of deposition and court transcripts, typically the most widely shared documents in litigation. DATICON Systems is a provider of database-creation and document-management services to litigation practices and corporate law

Les groupes peuvent être basés sur les produits, sur les personnes, sur les sociétés, ou sur les utilisateurs. D'autres groupes tels que des groupes temporaires sont également prévus. Le traitement qu'exécute automatiquement le système porte (non limitativement) sur: la mise en concordance des brevets et des documents, les citations des brevets (vers l'amont ou l'aval), la classification chronologique, la classification par tranches d'ancienneté et le regroupement (vers l'amont ou l'aval), le comptage des brevets par inventeur, les informations sur les employeurs des inventeurs, l'analyse arborescente des revendications, et l'aspect financier, ainsi que sur d'autres fonctions et possibilités dont la capacité d'utiliser des arborescences hyperboliques pour visualiser des données produites par le système, par le procédé et par les programmes informatiques.

information contained in U.S. patents is never released anywhere else."
If corporations searched this database before developing and releasing new products they might be able to avoid costly patent infringement litigation. Often, however, corporations do not conduct such patent searches. One significant reason for this is the difficulty in identifying relevant patents, and the difficulty in analyzing patents. Computerized search tools are becoming available to the public, such as web sites on the Internet, that can be used to conduct patent searches. Many companies and practitioners...

English Abstract

An Integrated and automated system for use in caseload management is disclosed. The system includes a central hub (20) having an authorized subscriber database (26), a router (22), and a selector (24). Each authorized subscriber is linked (27) to the central hub (20) via a subscriber system (30). The subscriber system (30) includes a workstation at which information may be displayed and entered and a data storage medium having a new cases database (34), a communications management database (36), and a billing database. Each source or insurer is connected (28) to the central hub (20) via a source system (40). The source system includes a workstation at which information may be displayed and entered and a data storage medium having a new claims database (42), a communication management database (44), and billing database (46). New claims are submitted by the source and undergo a new claims authorization process carried out by the disclosed system. The claims authorization process involves the selection of a subscriber and an option conflict check process and a budget approval process. After a new case is authorized, a communication link is established through the central hub (20) between the source (40) where the claim originated and the selected and authorized subscriber (30). The system also provides processes for requesting approval in connection with certain activities for cost-containment purposes.

French Abstract

Système integre et automatise destine a la gestion de toute une serie de cas juridiques. Le systeme comprend un systeme informatique central (20) ayant une base de donnees (26) d'abonnes autorises, un routeur (22) et un selecteur (24). Chaque abonne autorise est relie (27) au systeme informatique central (20) par l'intermediaire d'un systeme d'abonnes (30). Le systeme d'abonnes (30) comprend un poste de travail au niveau duquel des informations peuvent etre affichees et entrees, ainsi qu'un support de stockage de donnees ayant une nouvelle base de donnees de cas juridiques (34), une base de donnees de gestion de communication (36), et une base de donnees de facturation. Chaque source ou assureur (40) est connecte (28) au systeme informatique central (20) via un systeme source. Le systeme source comprend un poste de travail au niveau duquel des informations peuvent etre affichees et entrees et un support de stockage de donnees ayant une nouvelle base de donnees de reclamations (42), une base de donnees de gestion de communication (44) et une base de donnees de facturation (46). Les nouvelles reclamations sont soumises par la source et sont soumises a un processus d'autorisation de nouvelles reclamations, processus qui est mene a bien par le systeme decrit. Le processus d'autorisation de reclamations implique la selection d'un abonne et un processus de verification de conflit eventuel, ainsi qu'un processus d'approbation de budget. Apres autorisation d'un nouveau cas, une liaison de communication est etablie par l'intermediaire du systeme informatique central (20) entre la source (40) d'ou la reclamation est partie et l'abonne selectionne et autorise (30). Le systeme fournit egalement des procedes de demande d'approbation en relation avec certaines activites afin de maitriser les couts.
